

Arif Gilany author of: "The Ministry of Miracles"

In 1993, Arif Gilany arrived in Canada as a Kurdish refugee, having traversed five foreign countries in four years. At just 13, while living in a war-torn area between Iran and Iraq, his older brother introduced him to Harriet Beecher Stowe's classic novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin". This sparked a burning desire to one day call Canada home.

After graduating from DeVry University, Arif excelled in team management and performance at FedEx Corporation across North America. In 2006, he leveraged these skills to build the third-largest organization within a top Canadian financial services company. In 2013, he founded The Camel Company of Canada, expanding internationally in 2018 to manage teams across North America, the Middle East, and Asia.

Arif is a multifaceted author, having written two personal development books and one children's book, "The Incredible Story of Camels". In 2024, he launched the Camel Care Therapeutic Comfort Wear brand, offering camel fur apparel with numerous health benefits. The Camel Care brand focuses on natural healing and healthy aging through wearable apparel.

As a devoted father of two, entrepreneur, author, and business development consultant, Arif boasts exceptional interpersonal, team-building, negotiating, and multilingual skills. He has fostered cultural connections between North America and the Middle East, driven by a deep desire to make a positive impact and motivate others. Arif aims to bridge the gap between entrepreneurs and resources. He has also partnered with the Toronto District School Board to inspire children to embrace creativity and community building through the Art of Storytelling, promoting a better world for all ages."

Arif Gilany's life is a remarkable journey that showcases entrepreneurial spirit, and commitment to making a positive impact.
